HOLIDAY DECORATING WITH KAARSKOKER
– STYLISH, SIMPLE AND AFFORDABLE

Decorative replacement candle sleeves add a little cheer to any room this holiday season

SEATTLE, WA – Seattle based aPa company offers a great way to decorate for the holidays this season, without breaking the budget. Their newest lighting accessory - kaarsKoker, Dutch for “candle sleeve”, are individual tubes which replace the standard candle covers on chandeliers and sconces. The decorative replacement candle sleeves are available in 68 design options, with colors such as silver, gold, forest green, apple red and red gold basket ideal for coordinating with your holiday décor.

kaarsKoker founder and interior designer April Pride Allison has seen many clients requesting the sleeves for Chanukah, Christmas and even New Years. “The sleeves are easy to change and really add such an elegant touch to any décor. I think many people are still interested in creating lovely homes for the holidays, yet don’t want to overspend this year”.

Each kaarsKoker is available in candelabra diameter and in 4” and 6” lengths, which can be easily shortened to accommodate custom lighting. kaarsKoker candle sleeves are offered in a variety of solids and patterns that were derived from common motifs found in architecture and design. Just as you might use different colored candles throughout your home and for special occasions, kaarsKoker gives individuals the ability to make their common lighting fixtures extraordinary.

kaarsKoker candle sleeves are available for purchase online at www.kaarskoker.com and at Great Jones Home in Seattle. Prices range from $12 to $23 per pair, allowing individuals to customize their new or existing fixtures.
